Life here at the Mount is like a richly detailed tapestry. We, the students, teachers, and administration are the threads which intertwine to form this tapestry. Daily events and the special occasions are the actions which bind us together.

Ever since Mt. St. Mary Academy was founded in 1851, the tapestry has grown; as it has grown, so we the threads have matured and changed. Expansion in the City of Little Rock and the new addition to Marion Hall represent growth within our community; the Main Building symbolizes the past, and although it remains strong and special in our hearts, it has faded into the background. Four years of learning, under the guidance of skilled educators, has provided us with the material needed to continue to grow in mind.

But we do not grow academically only; we learn to understand and appreciate people, and we grow in the relationships that we develop with one another. Our most precious relationship that we expand during our years at St. Mary's is with One who will continue to be at the center of our lives. That One is God.

Over the years many different people have contributed their talents, ideas, and experiences into weaving this tapestry. We today receive the fruits of their efforts as a heritage which unites us with those of the past. For many of us, generations of graduates within our families also make a continuing link. In this Mount Saint Mary tapestry every thread is equally important, and the tapestry would be incomplete without even a single strand. Let us be proud in the unity which has and will continue to generate a unique quality about the Mount.

Our shared experiences weave us together to form our tapestry . . .

Dream Of A New Building Comes True

The new annex to Marian Hall has finally been completed. The addition has gained the Sisters of Mercy, the teachers, and the students well-deserved praise and compliments. The engraved dedication plaque, received by Sr. Jolitta, is a symbol of the hard work and patience given by the members of the Advisory board with Terence Renaud as Chairman.

On returning to school in the fall, the students found new facilities, including the parking lot, the remodeled library, and for some, lockers of their own. They expressed their appreciation at the dedication on September 22, when Bishop Andrew J. McDonald blessed the new annex.

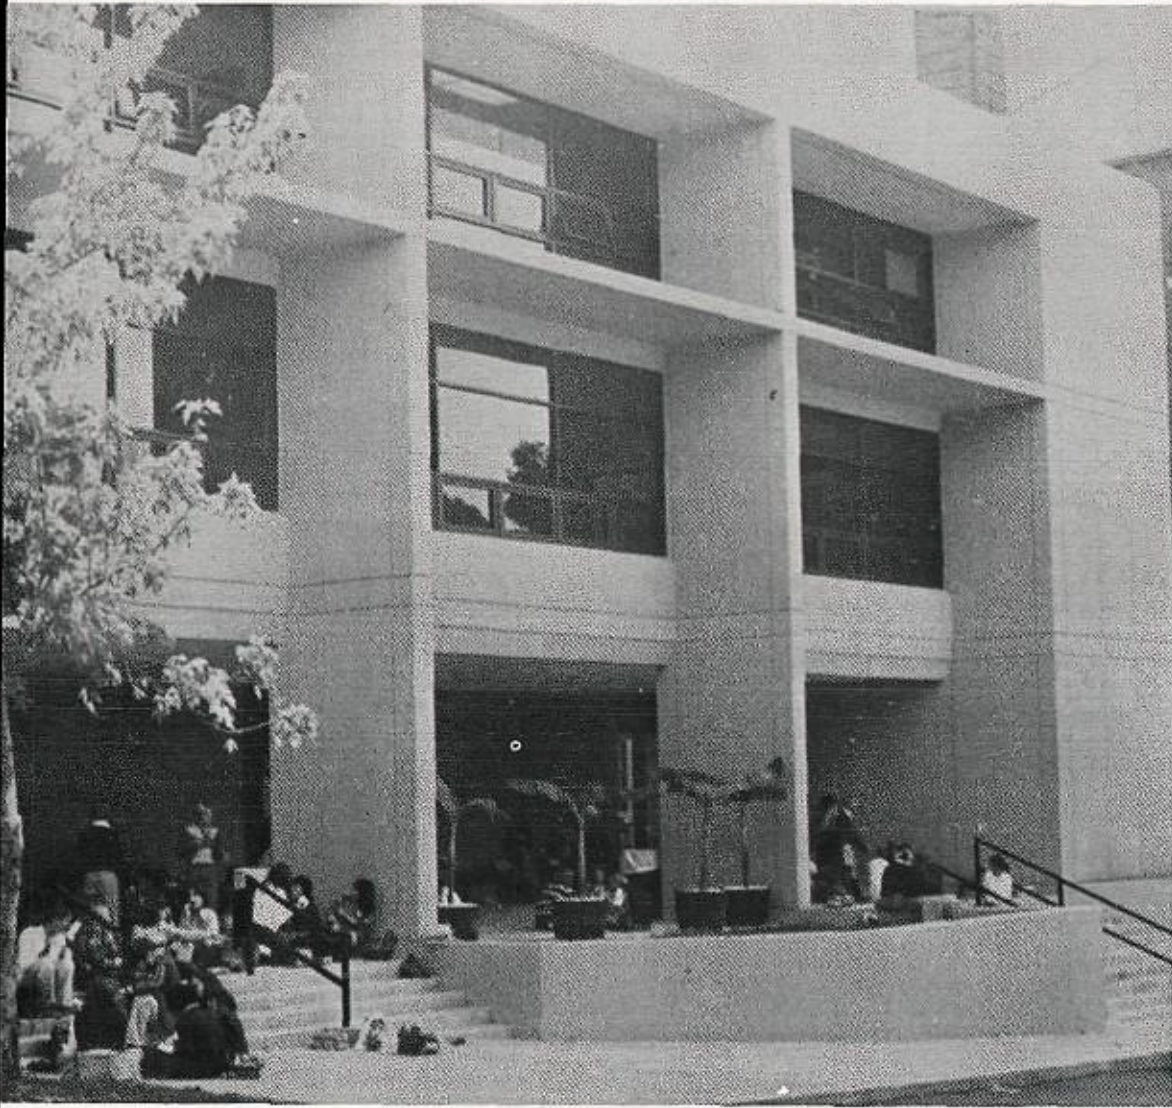

In addition to the new building is a new library on the third floor.

This plaque was presented by the Advisory Board to dedicate the new building.

Helping to dedicate the new building is speaker Bishop Andrew McDonald.

The front portico of the new building is used for many things, including an outdoor eating place for the students.

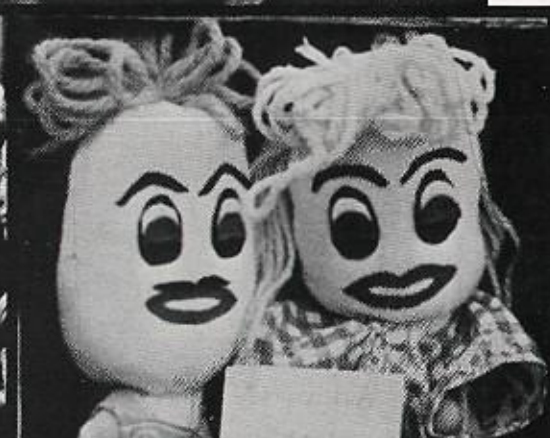

The new building also provides room for new lockers which the students enjoy.

Students enjoy the convenience of the new parking lot.

Mount Assemblies Break The Daily Routine

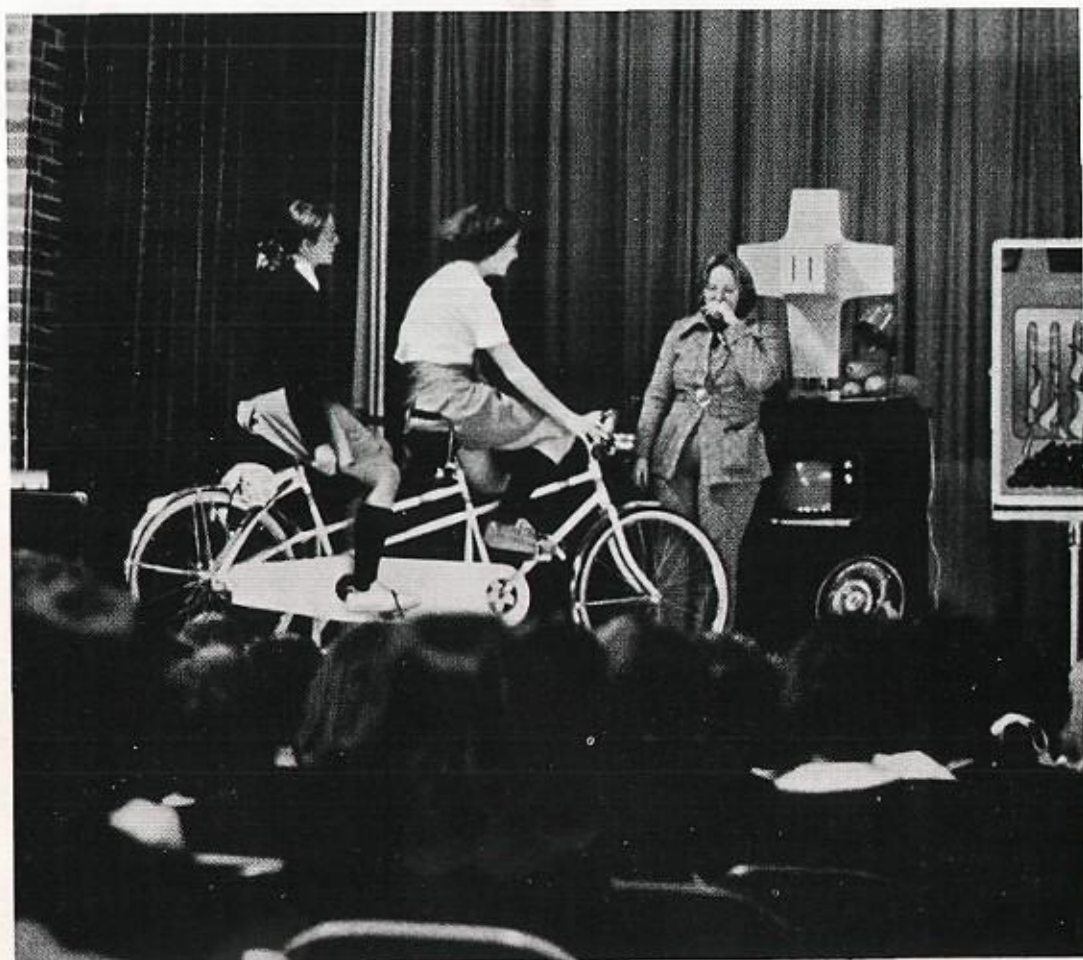

Clockwise: 1. UCA Band helps St. Mary's celebrate Fine Arts Week. 2. Puppets are one of the many attractions of Renaissance Fair. 3. A ladder helps Lori Clack to decorate the Christmas tree. 4. Two witches scare people away from the Renaissance Fair. 5. During an assembly on advertising, Celeste Allen and Melinda Hopkins join in a radio play. 6. Frances Zakrzewski shows her new hair style. 7. (Center) Students enjoy one of the many assemblies.

Almost every Friday the student body, faculty, and administration are given the benefit of an assembly. Besides putting a change in the day-to-day routine, the programs are interesting and knowledgeable. Outside groups are oftentimes invited to share with M.S.M. their ideas and findings.

Besides the assemblies shown on the opposite page, the school has seen others such as the Mind Grind, sponsored by the National Honor Society, in which students from each of the classes competed in a contest of knowledge by answering questions. This group also sponsored an assembly for its annual induction of members. Oftentimes, the Band and Choral group entertain the school with music and songs during this time.

The Assembly Committee tries to arrange different types of interesting programs for all members of the school group. The members of this organized group include: teachers, Sherrie Beavers, Shirley Herndon, Sharon Johnson, and Frank Poin-dexter; and students, Senior Rita Rolf, Junior Jam Dollins, Sophomore Susie Jegley, and Freshman Lisa Ferrell.

Weekends Were Made For . . .

It is Friday or perhaps Saturday night, and words cannot express your relief at surviving the week. What are you doing? A good guess would be watching a Rocket football or basketball game, followed by Mac's or an open house if you're lucky. A Razorback game may be in town; but if not, you may have decided to pack up the crowd and join the festivities at Fayetteville.

You might be headed for an evening of bumping and hustling with or without escort at a gym dance or at Subiaco, but you are determined to have fun regardless. Venturing into the classier side of life, there are the formal affairs, known as Homecoming, Snowball, Junior-Senior Ball, and Prom, that come with all the trimmings. Or you may decide to devote the entire weekend to a Search at St. John's or elsewhere.

Search "Dad" and "Mom," Bill Gilmore and Darcy Rourke, give an address at Aldersgate Camp.

The excitement of Rocket basketball reflects in the faces of players and spectators.

And then there are the private parties. These sophisticated Juniors say you're never too old for bunking parties.

Damian Gerke of the famed C.H.S. Ground Control bands with Varsity Cheerleaders to keep that spirit coming.

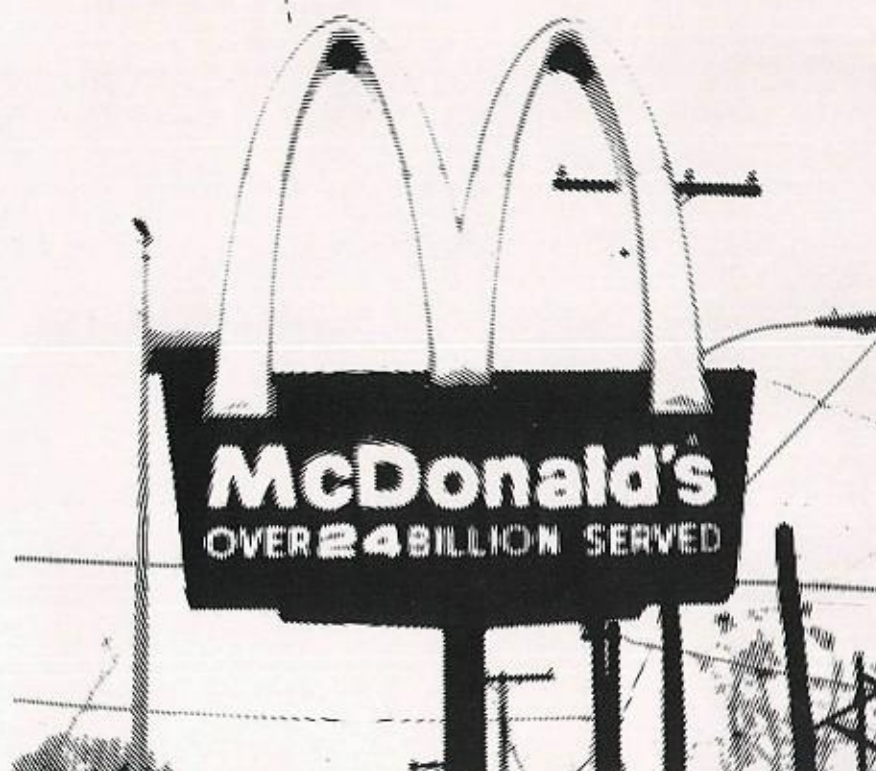

Lee Ann Cissell and Leslye Vines don't seem to mind that the Rockets are leading.

The Snowball Dance sponsored by C.Y.O. has become an annual favorite. Here some familiar faces dance to GIBRALTER.

HANGOUTS

Where does M.S.M. go in its spare time? There are as many places as reasons for going here. To unwind, socialize, sleep, study, eat, gossip, hide, or just hang around. The classic route of course runs from Mac's to a locked Overlook to Murray. (Drive around the parking spaces and check out the hunks.) If you see none of your friends, you start back over the cycle again. Let's hope you have a full tank of gas before attempting this play several times in succession. We repeat, this is only one pastime.

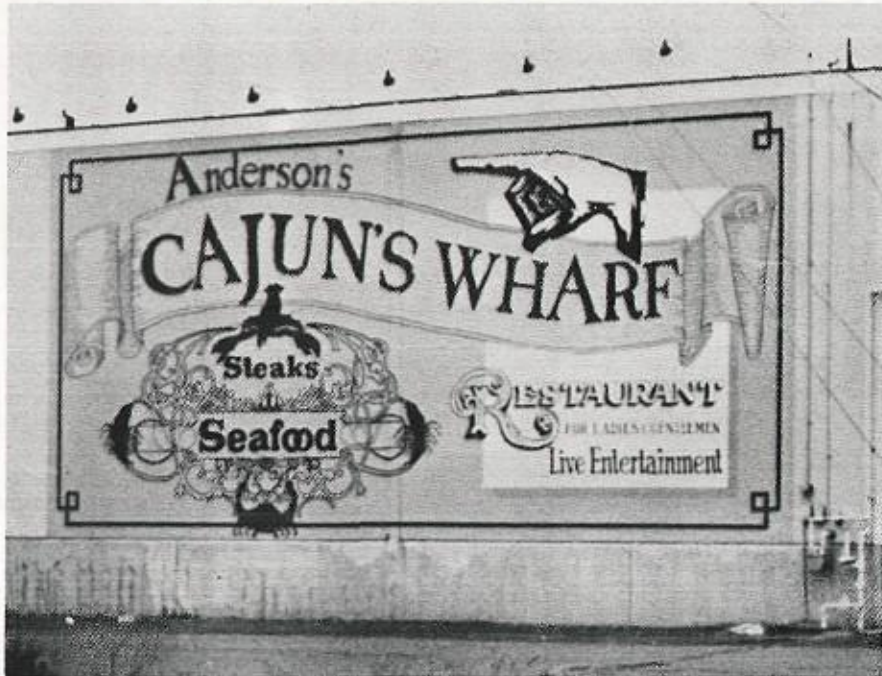

What more can we say? — The King of Hangouts!

Susan Otten and Paris Upshaw party it up at Murray Park.

Belles fans show their superior coordination and balance.

Dinner before prom, or another special evening? Cajun's is a favorite choice.

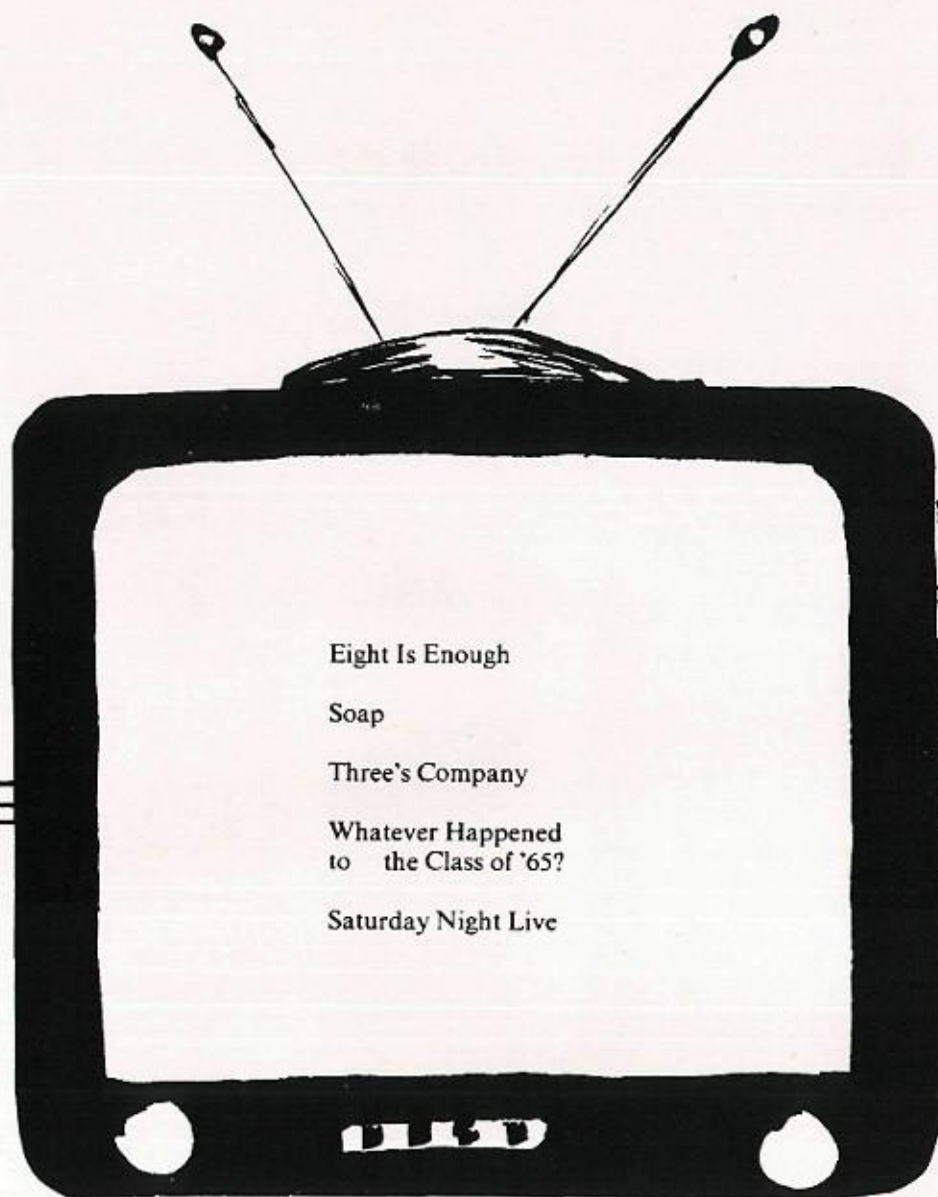

Who would think of missing the annual State Fair?

Thousands flock to Barton Colliseum for each big concert.

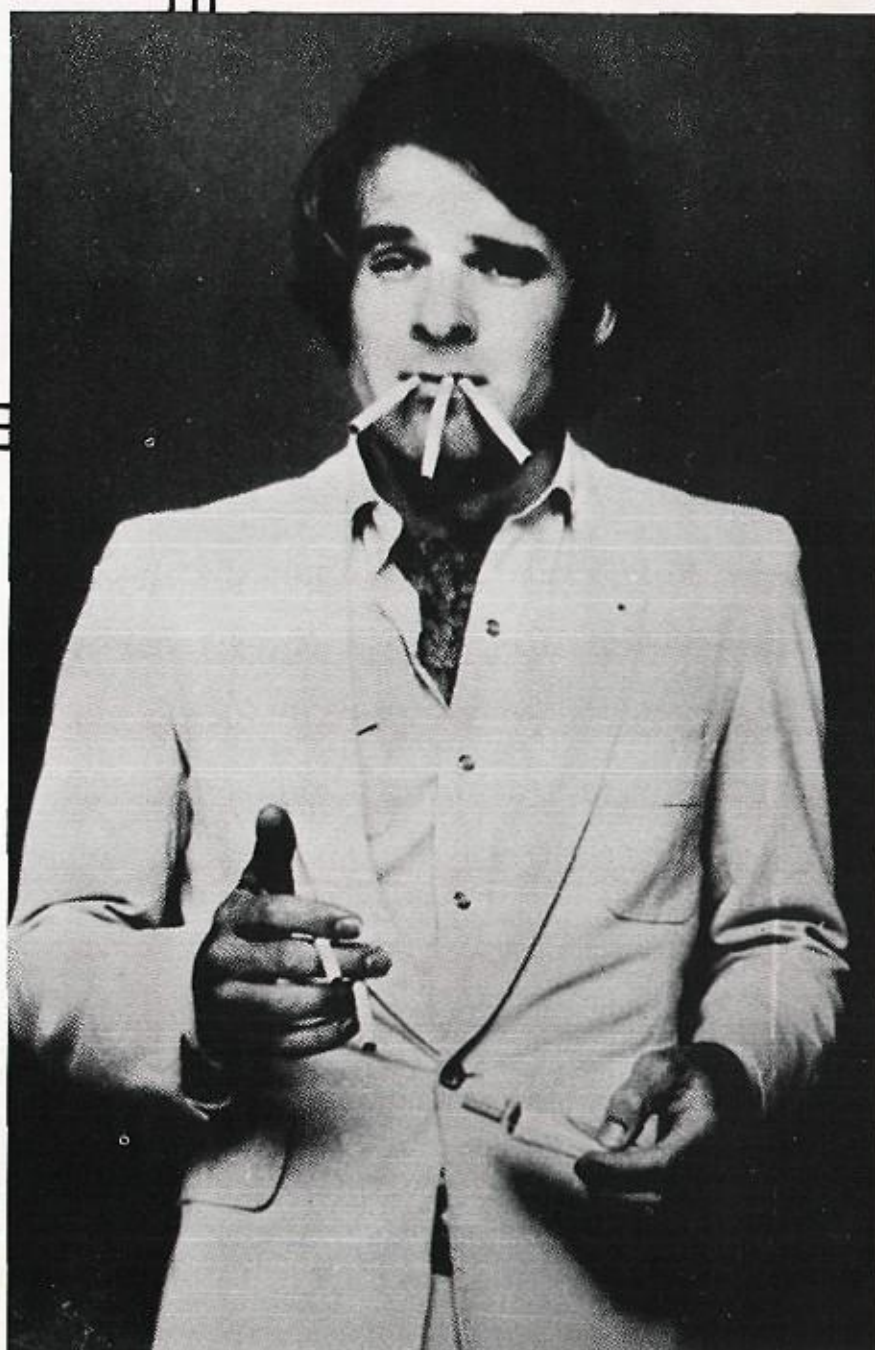

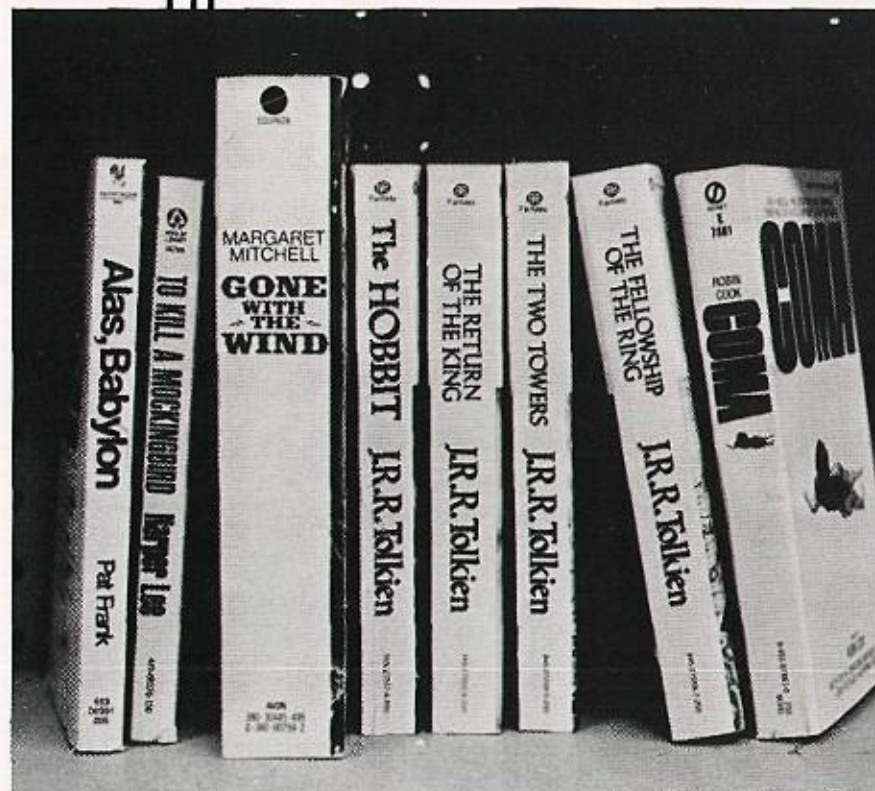

Many sophisticates prefer T.G.I. Friday's, or as it is affectionately called, "the classy MacDonald's." Still others spend afternoons at the zoo, early mornings at Sambo's, after-school at Black Angus, or fun-filled evenings and Saturdays at the U.A.L.R. Library, slaving over that Hammond or Teal research paper.

The glittering world of entertainment constantly changes in the search for that elusive "star quality" and audience appeal. The deaths this year of Elvis Presley, Charlie Chaplin, and other show business greats greatly upset their millions of fans. Meanwhile, new performers come to our attention: the short-lived Sex Pistols, Andy Gibb, Elvis Costello, Foreigner, and Player make their own changes in the music world, while rising stars Richard Dreyfuss, Star Wars' Mark Hamill and Harrison Ford, Steve Martin, Marsha Mason, and even Andy Kaufman contributed new style and personality to the stage, screen, and television.

The listings shown here are the results of a poll given to the student body, asking their favorite celebrity, movie, singer, book, and television show: Comedian Steve Martin, incidentally, can claim superstar rank at M.S.M., receiving the vote of over one-third of the students.

Just One Of Those Days . . .

Well, the parking lot was probably empty at 7:25, but since I get here at 7:30, I am forced to park on "I" Street and trudge up the hill. I do my first three periods of yesterday's homework in homeroom. Sleep through half of Mrs. X's 1st period lecture because I just couldn't miss Johnny Carson last night — David Brenner hosted. I get caught while changing classes by an overly-observant teacher who hands me a pink slip just for wearing sweat pants, a ski jacket, and green and orange tennis shoes! She lets me off for the gum; I guess she felt sorry for me. In 3rd period I forget to bring my book for the third time this week. I wonder if she'll let me go and get it. My locker is just right down the hall. Whew! Finally made it to lunch — except that I left it on the kitchen counter at home! Oh, but there's a great choice of delicious, nutritious food from the vending machines, if they are working. I bum some money off my loyal friends so I can buy Chef Boy-Ar-Dee ravioli, Nacho Cheese Doritos, a Baby Ruth, and a Diet Dr. Pepper. Yum! I study for a test in activity period, and in 5th I bite my nails to make a decent grade. Sneak into the bathroom without a pass to comb my hair and fix the bandanna that was maliciously yanked off. (Ooh, what a mess!) Ah, Hi Sister, I was just leaving . . . What, ME SMOKE? In the bathroom of all places?!? Back to class — for a pop test — what fun. 3:10 — The countdown for the bell . . . three . . . two . . . one . . . Rush to the lockers where I catch up on the latest gossip about who's asking Joe or Mike or Greg to Saturday's dance. I cram into the bathroom and get out of that uniform into some all-American JEANS! I'm human again. What a relief!

Back To The Old Grind With A Twist!

On the days of registration one had to wait in a long line while up front there were shouts of "I didn't want to take this class!" and behind, "Is this line ever going to move?" Once a person had her schedule straightened out, she found that the bookstore didn't have the books she needed. But finally, weeks later, such problems were ironed out; and school got under way.

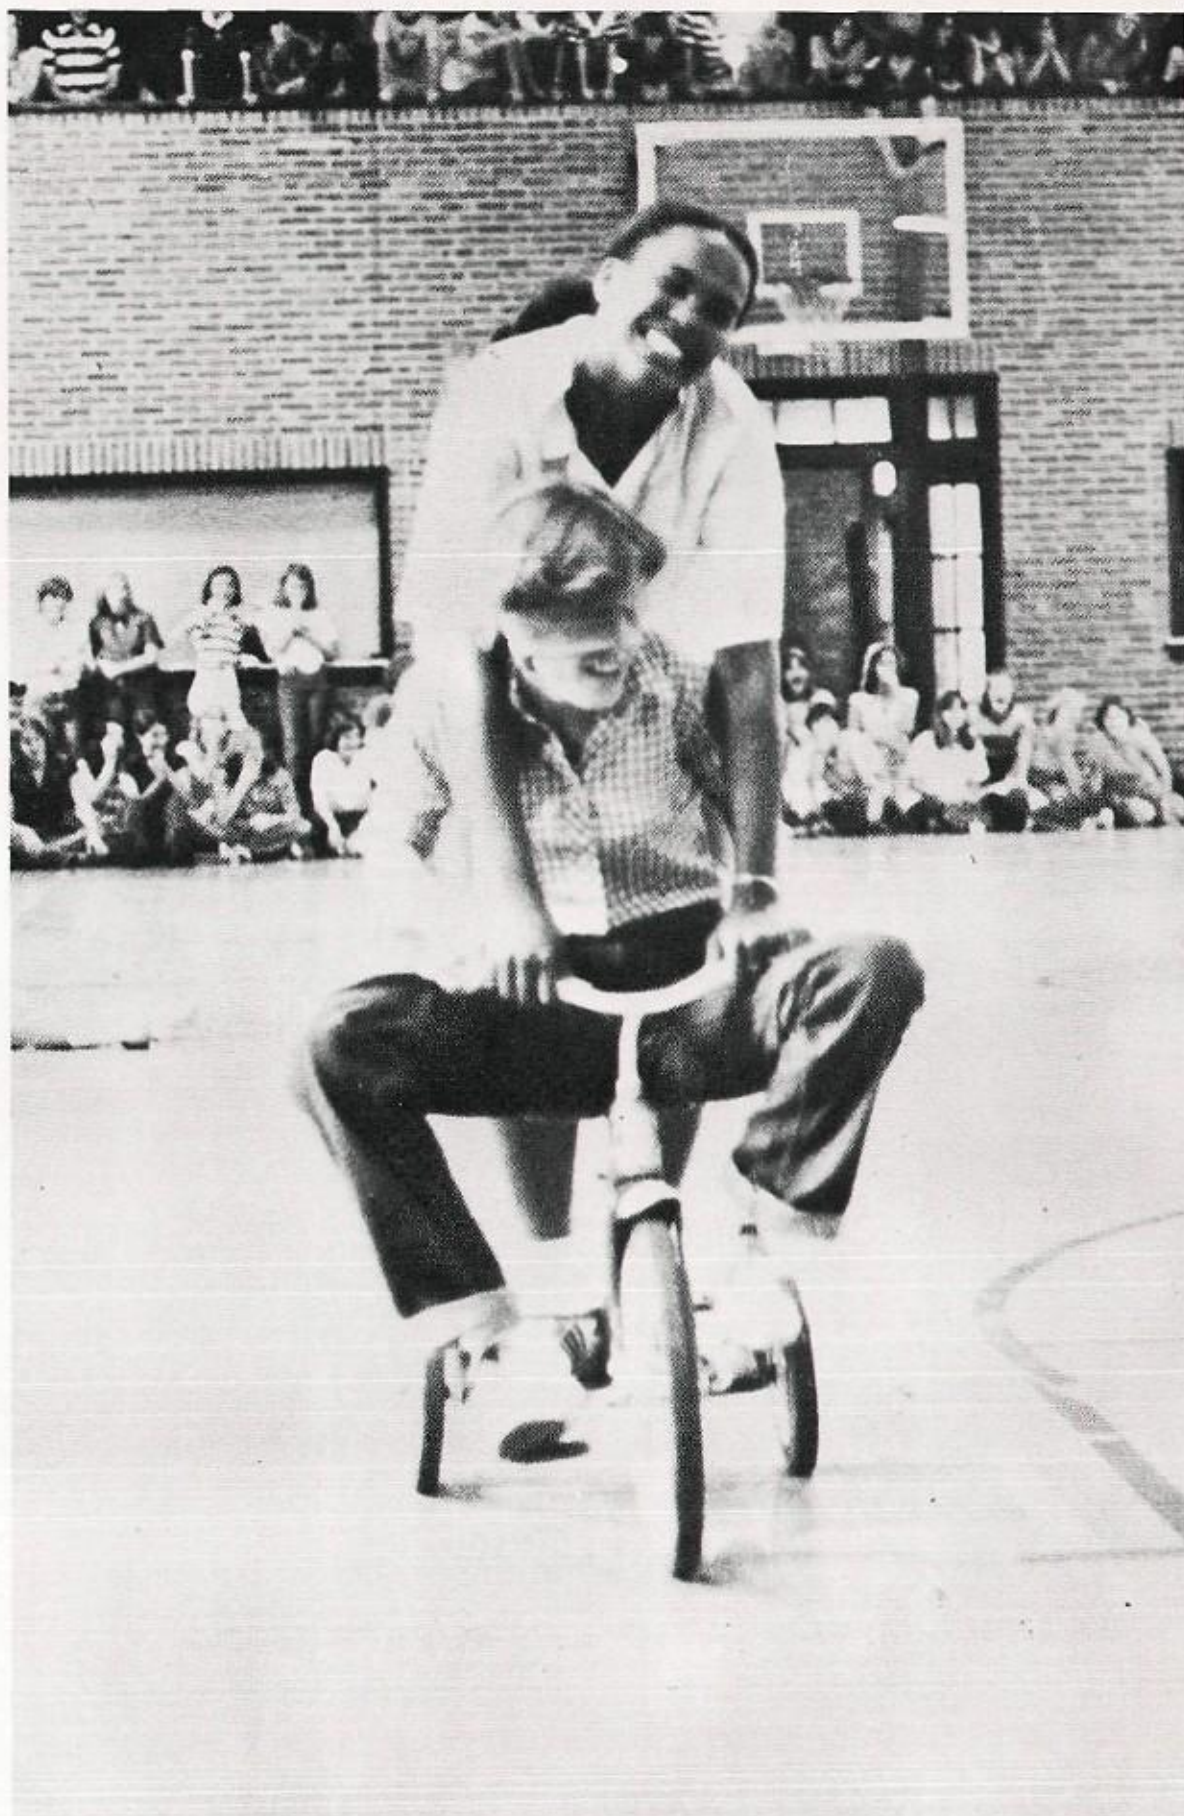

Mrs. Allison Holland helps parents see what it is like being students.

Throughout the first week, teachers heard excuses like "But I haven't bought my book yet" and "Osco's sold out of notebooks." "The bookstore doesn't have essay paper" was heard by a few.

Soon after school had opened, all students attended Field Day in which students and teachers competed against each other in various contests. One such contest involved pie-eating, but only one person, a poor freshman, had to eat the pie placed in front of her.

Instead of starting off with a P.T.O. meeting, it was decided to stage a "Parent Night." This night gave parents the chance to meet their daughter's teachers and to learn more about their courses.

Because of the new building, Freshmen were not the only ones lost this year. The upperclassmen had to relearn the numbers of floors and rooms, but it was worth it. The new building provided a welcomed change of scenery.

Many Disneyland characters were seen walking the halls of St. Mary's during the traditional "Freshmen Day." The senior "big sisters" initiated their "little sisters" by making them obey their every command and follow strict rules. These new students found out what "Senior Privilege" is like.

The success of the event is to be credited to the Freshman Committee members: Tricia Bartsch, Diane Bradshaw, Sharon Fitz, Lisa Hain, Mary Hawkey, Missy Knight, Cathy Knox, Susan Lohstoeter, Laura Mattingly, Karen Vincent, and Colleen Wehr, the coordinator. These girls had the responsibility of choosing the theme of Disneyland. They have planned other activities for the seniors and their "little sisters" to get together throughout the year.

Front Campus Sets Stage For Ring Mass

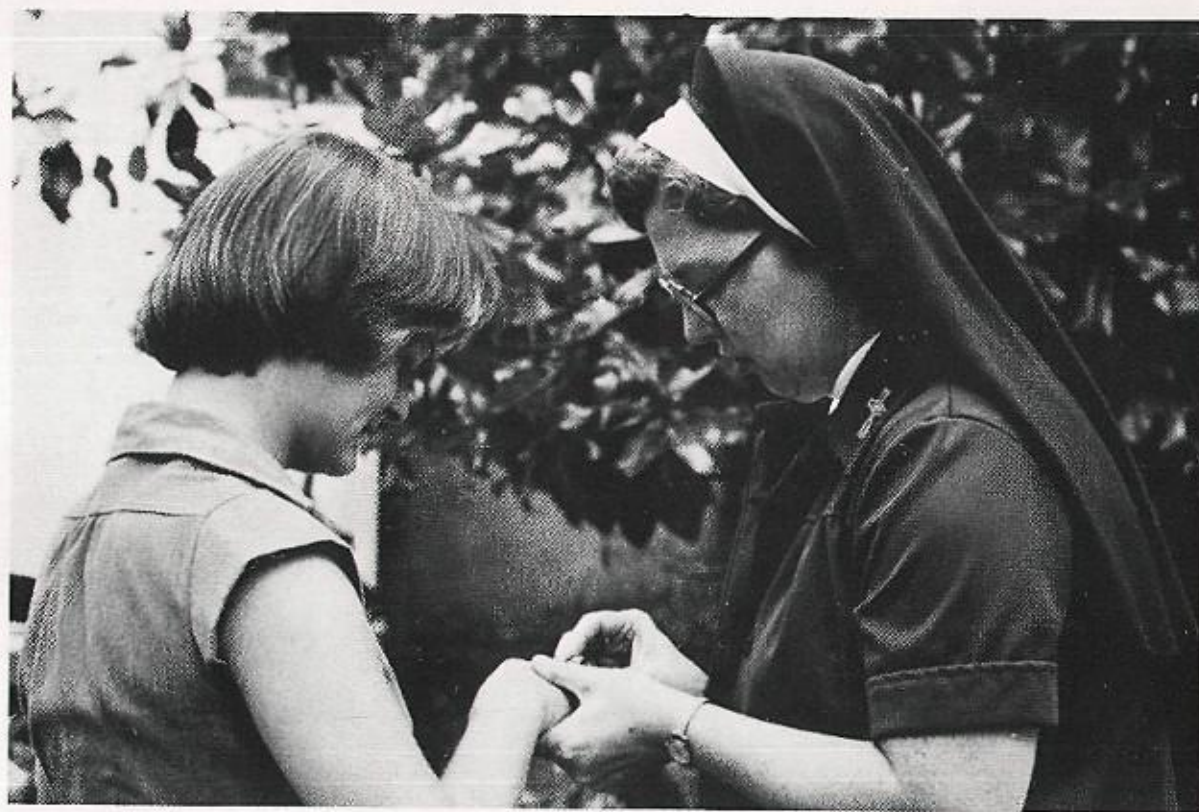

Beautiful fall weather allows an outdoor ring mass.

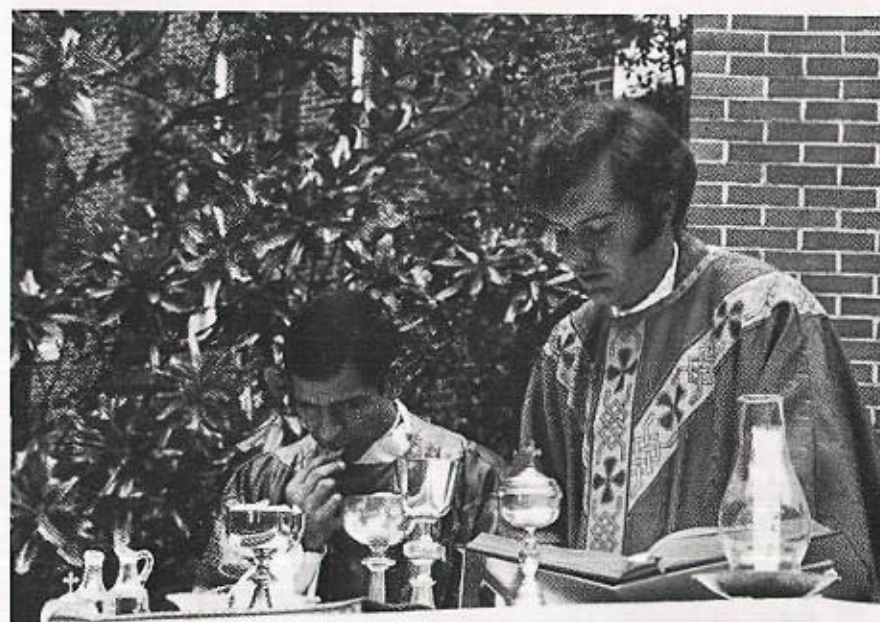

Lori Clack and Barbara Eichelmann sing "Day By Day."

The students, faculty, and administrators, along with families and friends joined the Senior Class of '78 on the front campus to celebrate the annual Ring Mass held on Wednesday, September 7. The ceremony, like the day, turned out to be beautiful. Father Correnti and Father Jacobs said the mass while the petitions and readings were delivered by members of the Ring Mass Committee. The music was provided by both Juniors and Seniors.

Father Correnti, in his address to the Seniors, spoke on the significance and power which these rings carry. When fellow classmates turned the rings of Seniors, they acknowledged the elevated position they had. On the night of graduation, each senior follows the custom of turning the ring outward to show others that she is now going out to start her life.

After four years, Melody Ashley finally accepts her Senior ring.

Father Correnti and Father Jacobs preside over the mass.

Choosing a vocation is not easy, but it is a decision that must be made by all. St. Mary's, being a college prep school, provides courses and activities helpful to the students thinking of attending college.

The guidance counselors, Sharon Johnson and Janet Tate, invite various representatives of colleges to come to the Mount and to discuss information about their colleges. On October 28, at Catholic High, both Mt. St. Mary's and Catholic High sponsored College Night, which any junior or senior may attend to find out more about different colleges around the United States. This event was helpful to many students; they were able to narrow their choices of colleges to attend.

While many students plan on furthering their education, others simply want to find a good job and meet people. For these girls, the Mount offers several business courses. Furthermore, the COE, HOE, and Metropolitan pro-

The long awaited news of the 1977 Homecoming Court, elected by the Catholic High football team, was finally announced one week before the Homecoming game against Jacksonville held on October 14 at War Memorial Stadium.

Before the kickoff, Karen expressed her pride in being chosen to represent Catholic High. She wished the team luck in the game, but the Jacksonville Red Devils defeated the Rockets. However, traditional festivities were enjoyable and past graduates of the Mount and Catholic High were on hand for the reunion.

This year's bazaar got off to a good start with the September 28th Kickoff Assembly, organized and performed by Seniors and Freshmen.

Jerri Fowler, a representative of M.M. Cohn's, gave a fashion presentation explaining the third prize, a $300 gift certificate from M.M. Cohn's. Seniors and their little sisters presented the second prize, a $500 gift certificate at Mattingly's Furniture. A game show,

"The Chance That Is Right," revealed, at last, the first prize, a trip to London, New York, or Hawaii.

The chance-selling was over whelming this year; all four classes achieved over their 100% goal. The Freshmen led with 119%; the Seniors came in second place with 106%, but the Sophomores were close behind with 105%. Although the Juniors came in last place, they reached a not so bad goal of 101%. One major reason for this tremendous effort was the free day given to all classes who did achieve their goal.

The variety of booths helped make the bazaar a success. Seniors were responsible for the popular dunking booth and cake booth. Juniors got the job of feeding the crowd while Sophomores had the hard job of running the jail. Freshmen took care of the doll booth and found for the first time how much fun the bazaar really is.

Throughout the year, students have made the Mount proud by competing and winning in varied competitions.

During the spring of 1977, six girls were chosen to attend Girls' State during the week of June 5 to 11 at Arkadelphia. Receiving this honor was not enough; some went further and tried for different governmental positions. Cathie Prewitt was elected as Attorney General, but Sidney Anderson was defeated in the race for Associate Supreme Court Justice.

This year's National Merit semi-finalists were announced before the whole school by Sister Elisa at an assembly. The three winners and the commended students each received a certificate for their achievements.

Two students of M.S.M. entered the Miss Teenage Little Rock competition; and one of them, Anne Jansen, won the title. Kathleen Brandon went so far as to become one of the twelve semi-finalists in Little Rock. In Dallas, at the Miss Teenage America Pageant, Anne received an award commending her leadership.

During the school year, three students were chosen as possibilities of attending the Presidential Classroom in Washington D.C. A Century III scholarship to Williamsburg was also given away in which two girls from M.S.M. became eligible.

M.S.M. is especially proud of Anne Jansen, Miss Teenage Little Rock. Kathleen Brandon also represented our school in the pageant.

The production included Broadway shows, both well-known and newer ones. The first act contained older and familiar shows loved by all; the newer and unfamiliar shows were seen in Act 2. To bring all the different types of songs together, Skip Lackey used mime to produce the shows from his magic trunk.

All of the stage work was done by the students in the show and on the crews. The posters, one from each show, were also designed and drawn by the students. The background of the set was made of old video tape donated by Channel 7.

Summer '77

The great getaway — Summer is the time to travel anywhere from Europe to Arkansas' own lakes and campgrounds. . .

Escaping the heat, much time was spent swimming, skiing, or just relaxing with a tall lemonade on the rocks.

The more industrious souls took some very interesting summer jobs, but many chose the ever-popular "grease-joints."

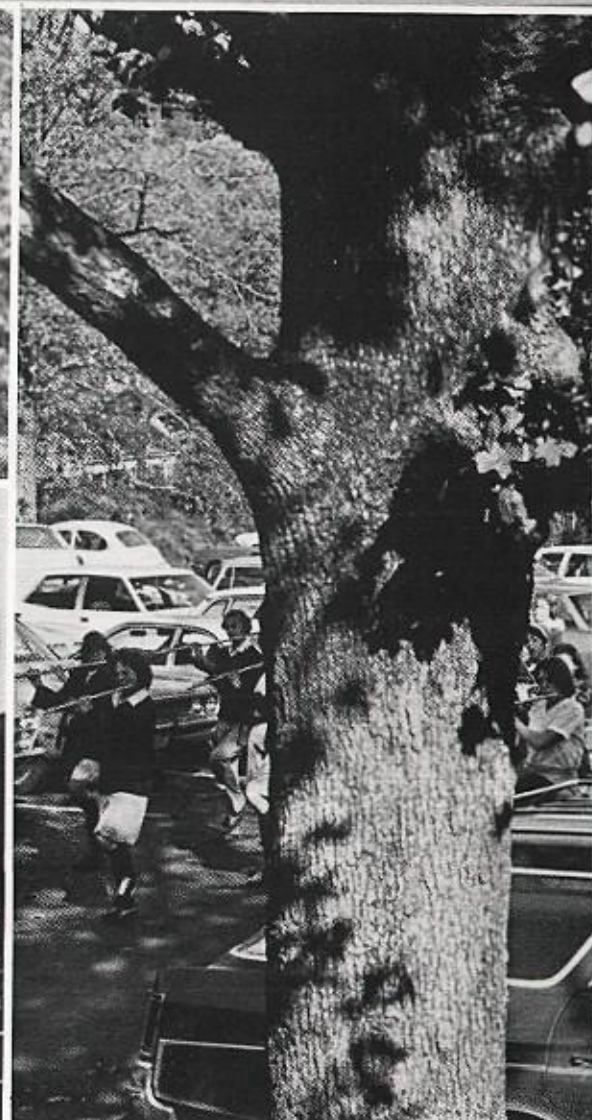

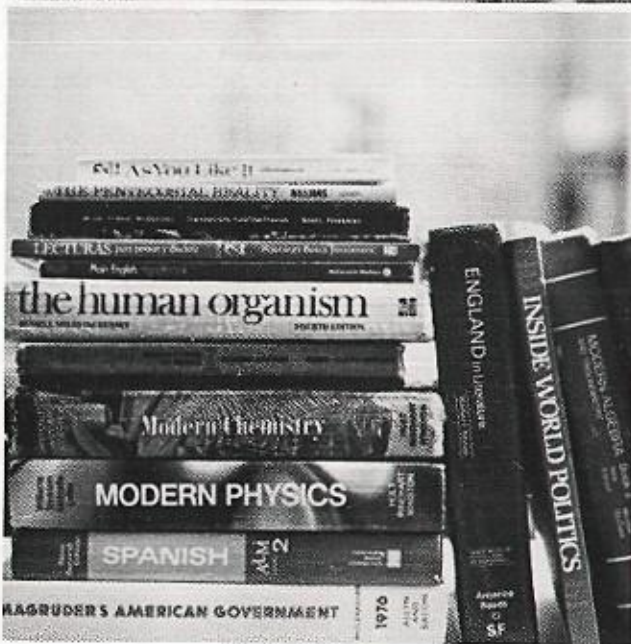

Fall '77

Back to the old grind — buying books gave the feeling you were not only expanding your mind but also throwing away the last of your precious leisure time.

The "Bandies" master the feat of marching and playing simultaneously. We heard the music often as they tramped through the parking lot.

Spooky creatures roamed the Mount around October 31. The buildings, according to tradition, were nicely decorated with streamers of white stuff. Wonder where it came from?

Winter '78

The second paralyzing winter in a row brought school to a halt with a record of 10 inches in January. Students were ecstatic at first about the break from classes, but the novelty died down as Arkansas learned to live like Northerners — by walking very carefully.

The Christmas assembly to our surprise turned into a full day of festivities. "It Happened One Night" starring Clark Gable, was a tremendous hit. Free goodies were generously distributed to the student body. Lunch came later, gifts were exchanged, and everyone vowed to never again eat another candy cane or sugar cookie.

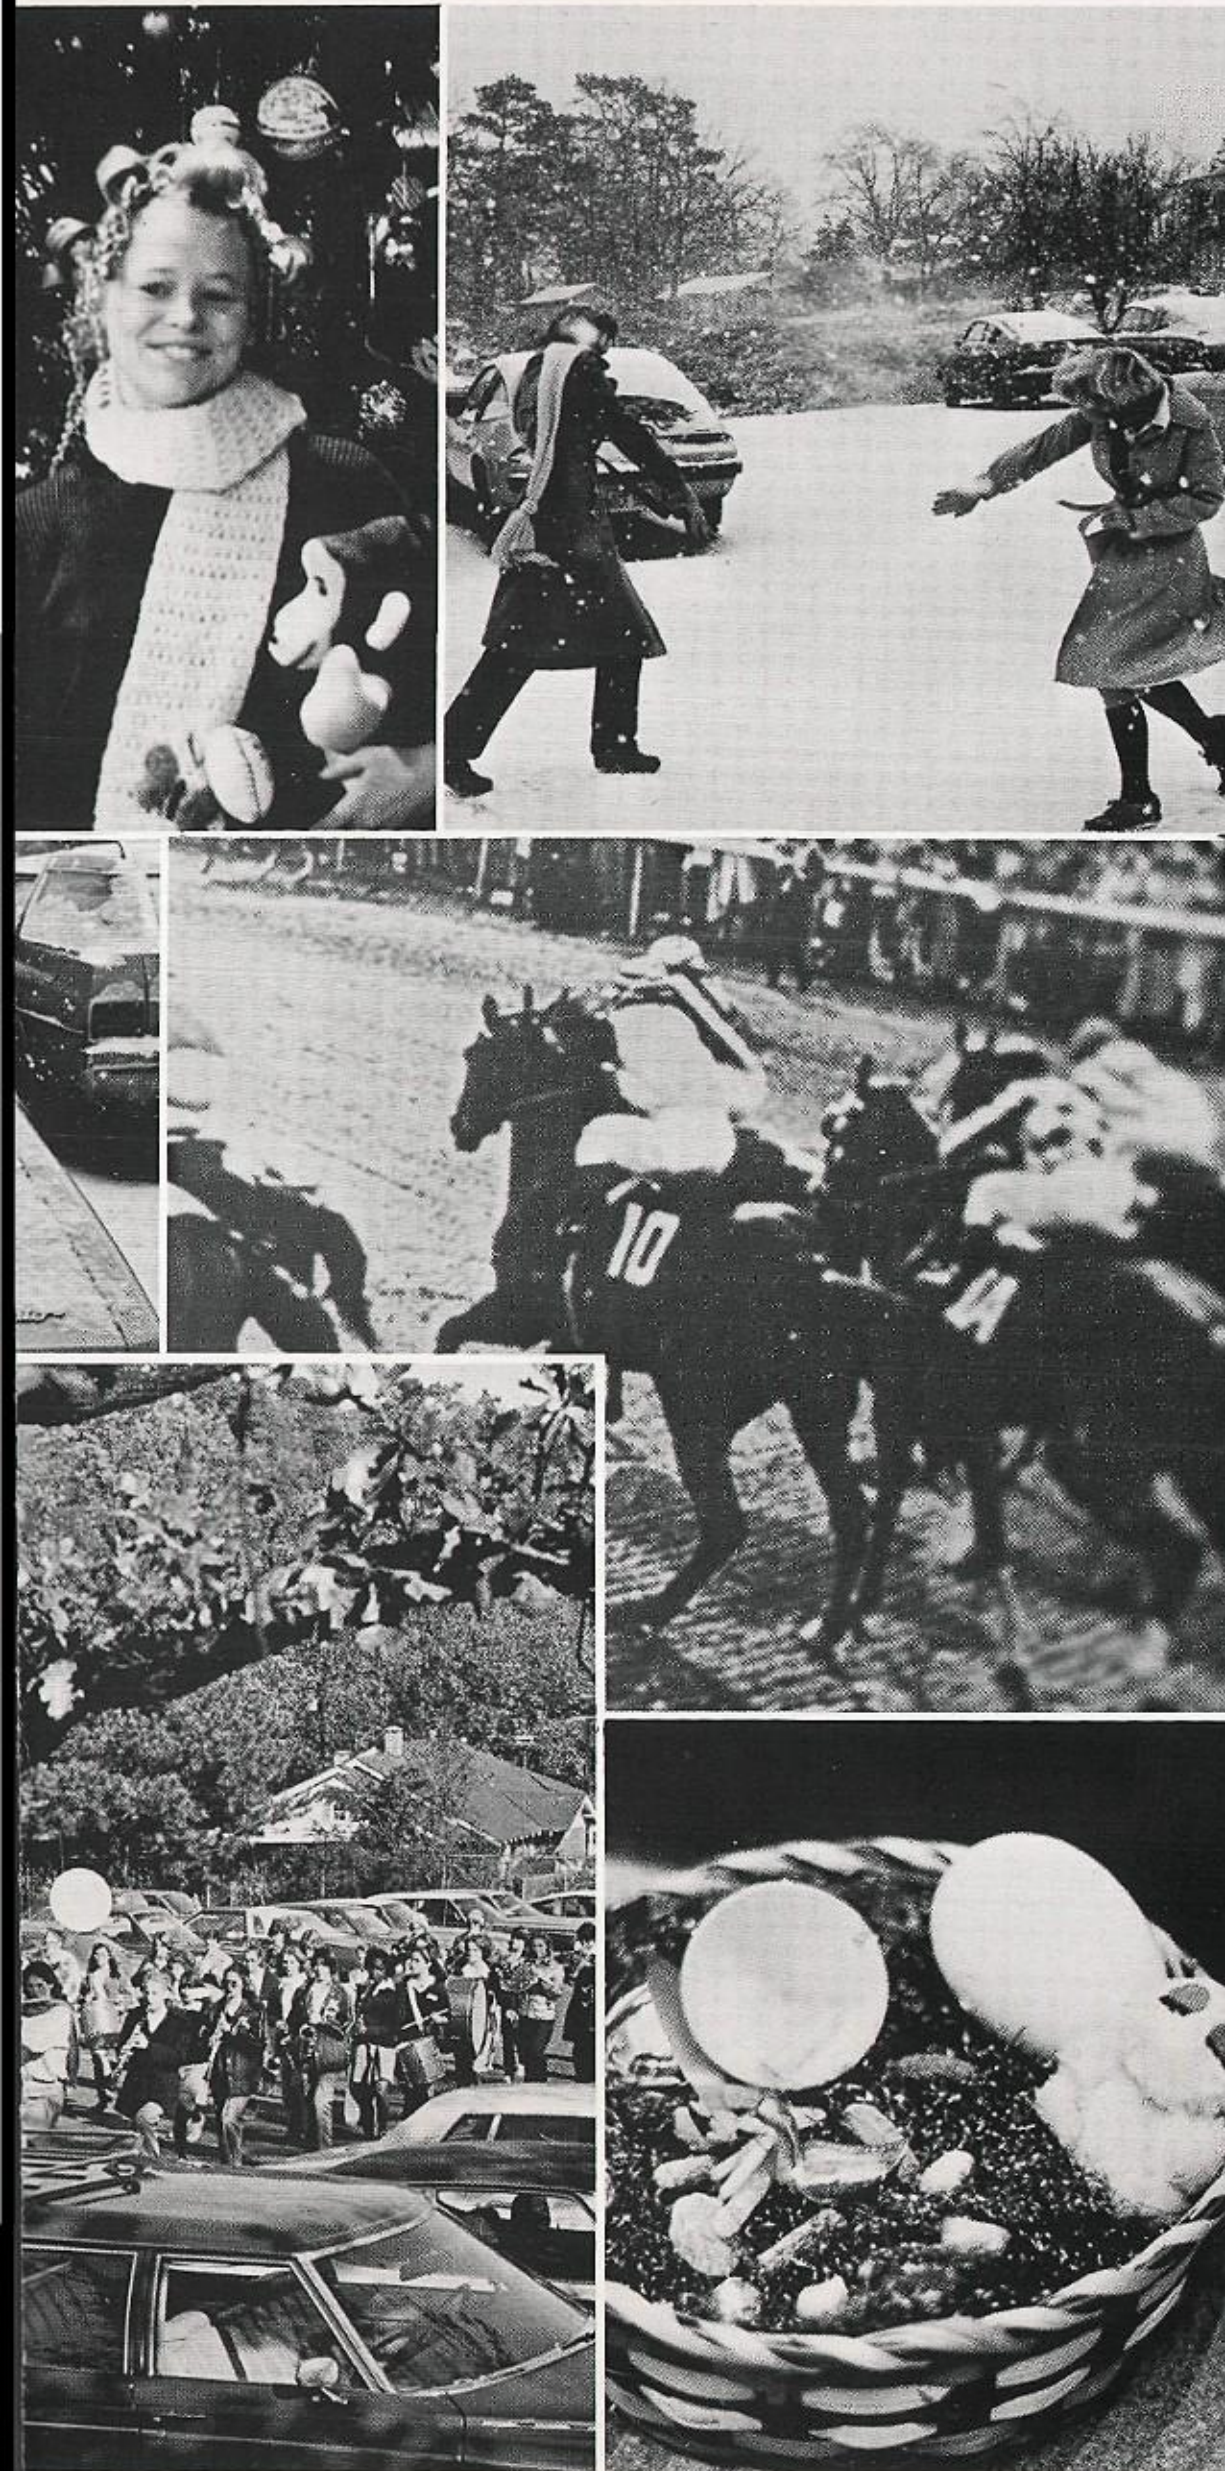

New Year's Eve brought out the wild side in every dedicated partier. Confetti was scarce, but refreshments were not.

Spring '78

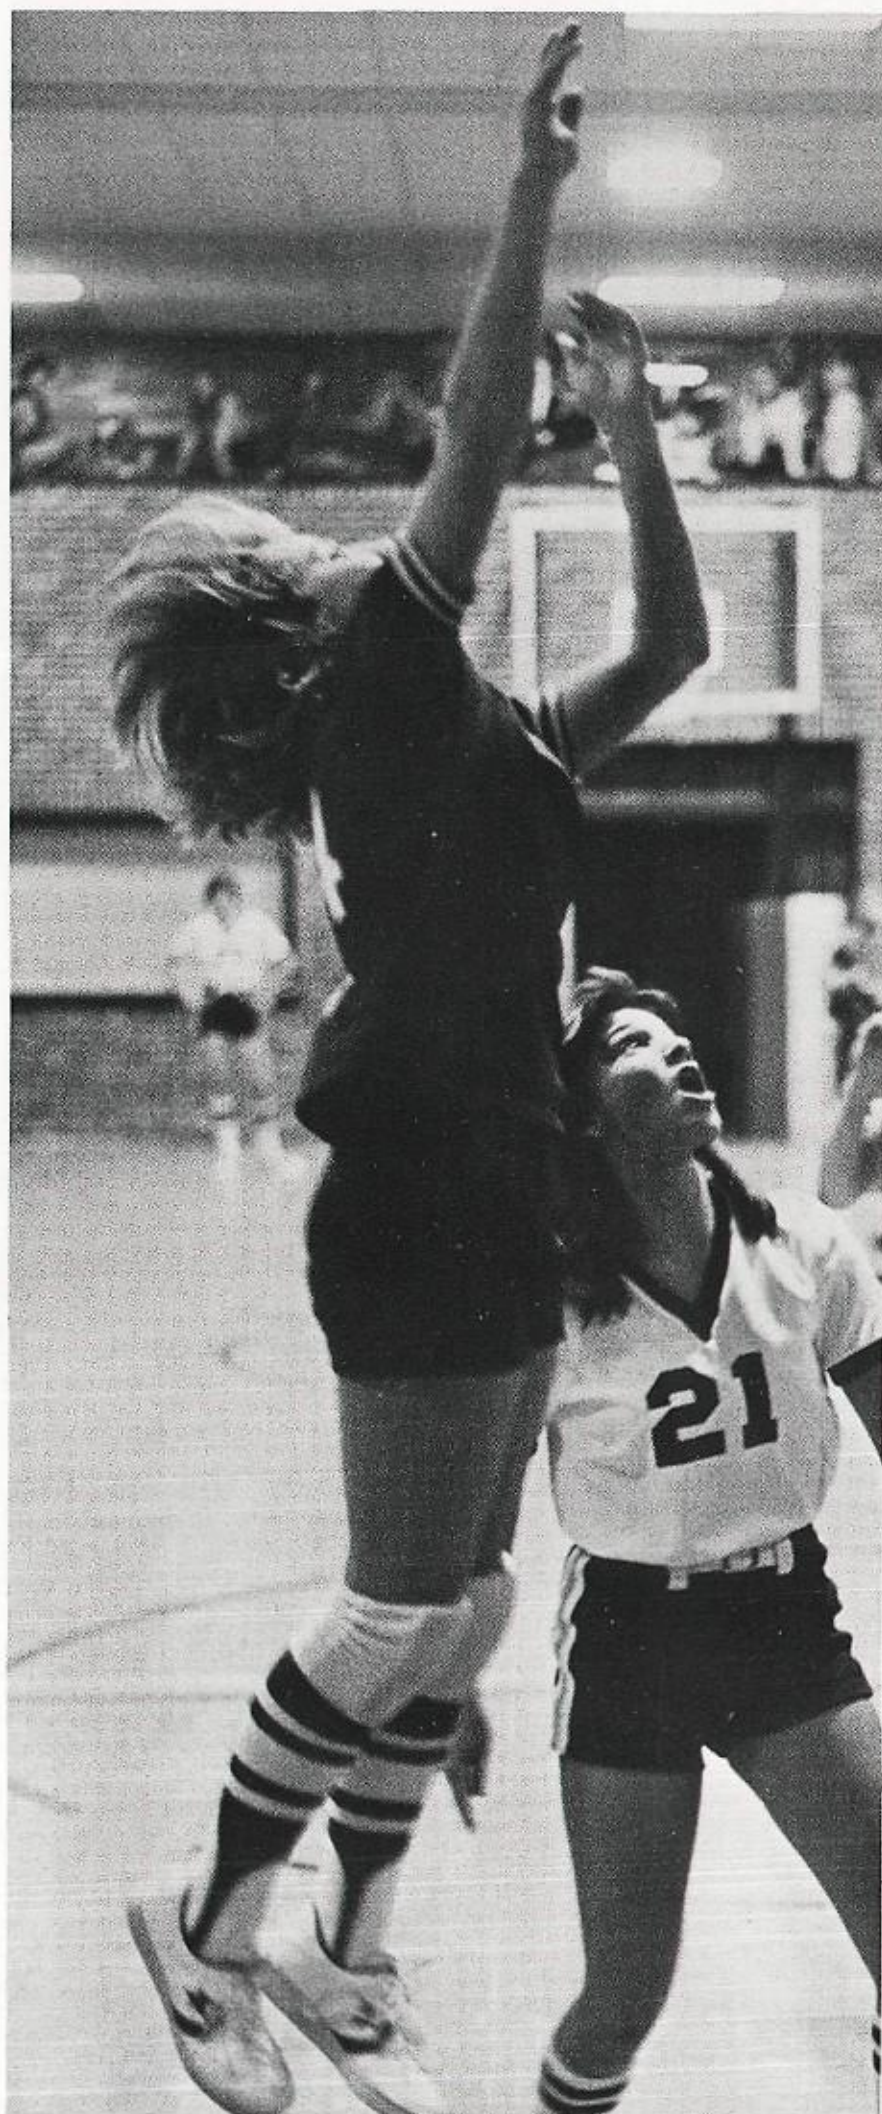

School attendance dropped slightly with spring fever and the Oaklawn racing season in Hot Springs.

Ash Wednesday, fasting and giving up our favorite indulgence were followed of course by Easter, perhaps the most meaningful holiday to Christians. While the egg hunts and chocolate bunnies are supposedly "for kids only" some of us then reverted to our childhood.

Our Bandies marched at New Orleans Mardi Gras. For days later, students sported the treasure plastic baubles that they got by tooth, fang, and claw.

That's The Way The Old Ball Bounces

The district in which the Belles and Mounties play was changed this past season to A.A.A.A. in which there are seven teams, many of which M.S.M. had never played before. The schedule called for twenty-four games; but because of snow, not all could be met.

Throughout the basketball season, both the Belles and Mounties practiced about four days a week. They undertook the task of learning new techniques and practicing on the old. The girls also played under game situations.

The M.S.M. teams took part in the annual Cabot Tournament held December 3-12 in which they prepared themselves for the District Tournament taking place in the second week of February. The winner of this tournament went to the State Tournament.

Coach Joy Rundell has worked hard to get the girls of the Gymnastic Team ready for competition against other gymnasts. Some of these group members have had training in the sport; but for many, this year was the first. All of the girls were proud of what they had achieved in all meets.

"What next, Miss Rundell?"

Game Point For M.S.M.

The twenty-one girls making up the Volleyball Team worked hard to win over the competitive teams. In the Northeast Tournament held in October, the M.S.M. team defeated Ole Main; but the girls lost to the first and second ranking teams, Sylvan Hills and Northeast. They had put forth a great effort; and one girl, Leslie Gorman, received acknowledgement for her fine playing. She was voted as an all-tournament player.

Although the Swim Team did not go undefeated this year, the girls put out a tremendous effort. Their famed slogan "INSTANT SWIMMER, JUST ADD WATER" fits the group perfectly; at all meets, the girls did their utmost to win. They have worked hard; and thus, they have improved and will be ready and even better for next year.

The Strength Is In The Voices

The girls in the C.H.S. Pep Club have spent time learning chants and cheers. Captain Sharon Fitz and Co-captain Cathy Knox worked on the Rocket "launching Pads" during the summer. Each Senior football player receives one in his yard before the beginning of the season.

Varsity Cheerleaders Inspire C.H.S. Fans

The Varsity Cheerleaders spent much time making signs and runthroughs. In August, when football practice began, the girls prepared KOOL-AID for the football players. They raised spirit among the Pep Club girls by teaching them new cheers and chants that they had learned at camp.

Belle And Mountie Cheerleaders Boost The Spirit At The Mount

Kristi Hinchey, Jan Dollins, Sandra Casson, and Paula Thompson seem to be sure of a victory for the Belles and Mounties.

During a school assembly, Belles and Mounties cheerleaders raise student spirit.

The M.S.M. Cheerleaders have sold spirit ribbons, buttons, pendants, bumper stickers, and programs to help raise the spirit. To get more students to attend the basketball games, a spirit stick was awarded, temporarily, to the class with most attendance. The race was close between juniors and freshmen, but the freshmen came out winners.

Looks Like We Made It!

Being a member of the Class of '78 is something to be proud of. Throughout all four years, these girls have stuck together. As freshmen, they came closer by helping each other to learn the way of life at the Mount. Being sophomores was hard to get used to; no longer did they have their big sisters to look after them. These girls, like all juniors, were impatient; being seniors was right around the corner.

Along with being a senior comes many privileges. Sitting in the front part of the gym at assemblies, leaving the gym first, and not having to wait in line at a coke machine are just a few of the specialties that all students anticipate.

The Mount has done much in preparing these Seniors for any goal they set for themselves. When these girls have gone, they will dwell on their past life at the Mount; and the good times will only be remembered.

Seniors Get Into the Spirit of Things

The spirit had by the Class of '78 has been overwhelming. For the first time, these girls were able to exceed their chance-selling goal for the bazaar. With each doing her part, the class, as a whole, reached 106% of its goal. Many seniors gave of their time and effort to work on different committees to make this year the best of all.

Reasons for the great enthusiasm are receiving a locker of one's own in the new wing of Marion Hall and the new parking lot. But, above all, the class officers deserve much recognition for their contributions to the class.

Laura Hastings and Diane Bradshaw harmonize while Lisa Reynolds prepares for a quick getaway.

Mary Hemann appears exhausted from activities as student co-ordinator.

Diane Bradshaw and Susan Thompson attempt to flag down dates for the prom.

New here at MSM, senior Lisa Ennis attentively listens to the KMSM sports announcer.

After wrapping herself in the tablecloth, Ann Hess claims, "I only had this much!"

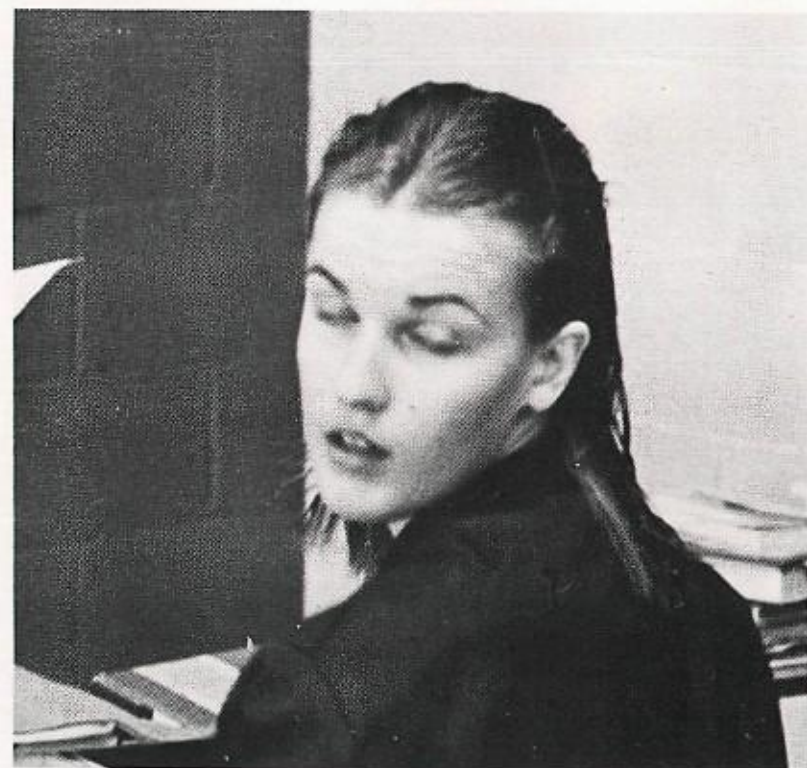

Rita Rolf at her senior best.

Senior's Last Stand

Charlotte Greenwood and Mary Hemann share a few laughs on their way to class.

Jeni Ratliff — "No sister, I'm awake!"

Maureen Riley and Joyce Gangluff appear entranced with assembly while Mary Kelly attempts to strike up conversation.

Sharon Fitz expresses sheer delight in new found senior privileges.

Deb Eckart shows her band spirit while playing the drums.

Susan Thompson and Kim Robinette show unity in the true sense of the word.

The Class of '78 has put forth a greater effort this year to become a more united class. Many girls realized that this year would be their last year, and their last chance, to really get to know their fellow classmates.

Even though these girls won't be together at school, they have developed long lasting friendships that they will always remember.

Lisa Carey and Ellen Marks display proper behavior at assembly.

Seniors feast together on Epicurean delights.

Junior Spirit Keeps Them On Top Of Things

Being the number two class is nothing to complain about. The members of the Junior Class of '78 have been busy from the start. They did their share in raising money for the Bazaar by selling 101% of their chance-selling goal, and working in the Food Booth, a must at every bazaar.

The members of the junior committees responsible for the Junior-Senior Ball did a fantastic job. They worked hard to get a good band and place; BURGUNDY was gotten to play, and the Werthen Band Building was chosen as the location. All seniors and juniors attending the elegant ball were given a good and enjoyable time.

Such a hard-working, well-spirited group can surely make its senior year just as great as its junior year.

Sophs Are A Driving Force Behind The Mount

The Sophomore class is stepping up. While last year they had to deal with the problems caused by being new, this year they have an even greater feeling of belonging.

These girls went right to work in selling their chances for the Bazaar, reaching 105% of their goal. Handling the Jail was troublesome, but it was worth the time spent to bring in the money.

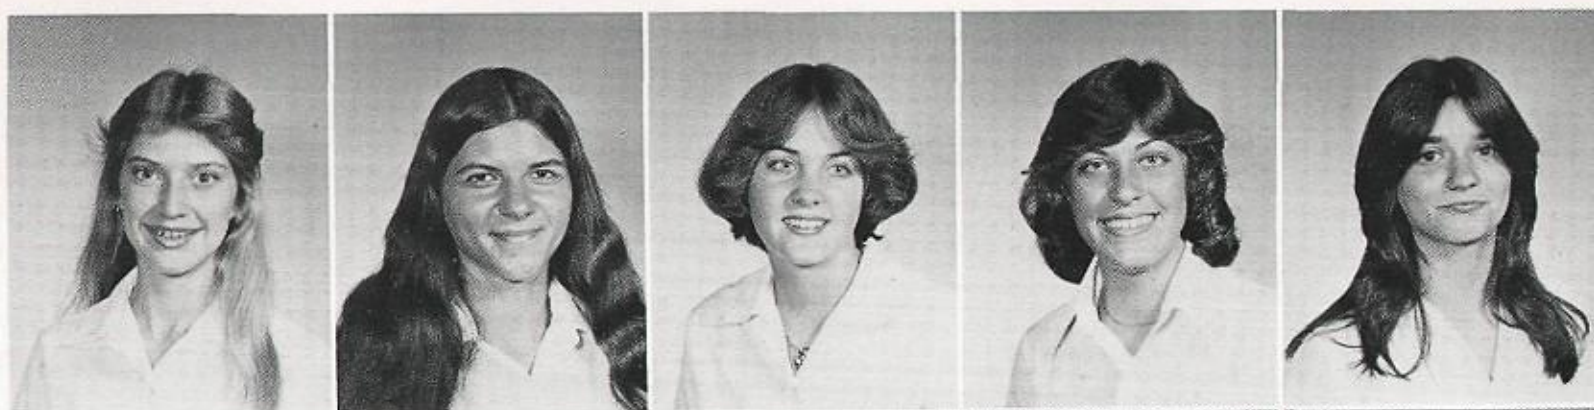

If this class can make its last two years at the Mount as great as the first two, it will really have something to be proud of.

Freshmen Climb With Their Spirit

Starting off in a new school was rough for the freshmen at first, but they soon got over it. Meeting new friends and having "big sisters" to welcome them helped them to feel like they belonged.

When it comes to raising money, the spirited group of girls have what it takes. Reaching 119% of their chance-selling goal brought them to win first place in class competition. But they didn't stop there. The girls worked hard to make their art and craft booth and their doll booth a success.

Now that these girls have learned the daily routines of St. Mary's, they are prepared to help it in all ways that they can.

Those We Listen To . . .

BISHOP ANDREW J. MCDONALD
Bishop of Little Rock

Bishop McDonald has taken time out to take part in many activities at Mt. St. Mary's. His first visit this year was at the dedication of the new annex where he gave a talk in which he quoted from King David, "Unless the Lord build the house, they labor in vain who build it."

"Through the schools, thousands upon thousands of young people have received an outstanding education enhanced by religious values which give true and lasting meaning to life. To them we remain committed!"

SR. MARY ELISA BAUMAN
Principal

Even before this school year began, Sr. Elisa was busy with arranging the different schedules and getting the school in order. In her office, she is not left unaware of the problems of the students and faculty; being on the S.F.A. Board provides her with ideas to help all attending the Mount.

"After a year of noise and dirt with recent construction, everyone seemed to rally in September with a renewed interest and wonderful spirit. The new building, the students' enthusiasm and the faculty's ambition have all assisted in making the administration's tasks this year more joyful."

In The Office . . .

SR. MARY JOLITTA KONECNY

Sr. Jolitta has many responsibilities, including making sure that the buildings are kept in order and taking charge of money problems.

The teachers enjoy a brief lunch in their own cafeteria.

During the Christmas Assembly, Sr. Matthew, Sherrie Beavers, Charles Johnson, Sandra Bradford, and Sr. Charity act as five golden rings in the "Twelve Days of Christmas."

Sr. Ricarda is the school's own photographer and rarely is caught without her camera.

"Smart People Got No Time"

Contrary to popular belief, NHS members do not spend all their time with their noses in books. This group of girls has been kept busy. At the bazaar, they raised money by selling balloons and by storing many articles owned by the people in the crowd. To raise spirit at this time, they gave an Epicurean dinner in which those students reaching half their goal by a certain time were eligible.

In February, the members were responsible for the ever-popular assembly, Mind Grind in which four people were chosen to represent each class. Around twenty juniors and seniors were inducted into this group in March.

Y-Teens Give Time and Energy

Y-TEEN OFFICERS: (l to r) Lisa Brown, president; Marjorie Tedford, secretary/treasurer; Lynn Thomas, ICC-representative. Absent; Elizabeth Deal, vice-president.

If a girl is a Y-Teen, she must devote much time and effort to help the community. And that is just what this group of girls has done. Under the leadership of Sandra Kuykendall, these girls have worked with the YWCA to improve the environment.

Whenever a fire drill took place, you can be sure the Fire Marshals were alert. These girls have the responsibilities of closing doors and windows, and seeing that everyone is out of the building.

The Officer Workers, Lab Assistants, Library Assistants, and Bookstore Assistants also had responsibilities. These girls helped the secretaries, teachers, librarian, and students.

Students are given the opportunity to attend one of three programs which include COE (Cooperative Office Education), HOE (Health Occupational Education), and Metropolitan.

Students belonging to one such program only attend three classes at the Mount in the morning. In the afternoon, COE and HOE students have either a business or a medical job. Those girls going to Metropolitan attend classes such as art photography.

These programs are very educational; they give students the chance to learn outside of the classroom.

Literary Club Shares Reflections

The girls in the Literary Club have been preparing all year for the publication of their magazine Reflections. During fourth period, they had written different types of poems so that they could learn more about the subject of writing. Any student could contribute any of her own poems and make them eligible for printing.

These club members sold candy and caramel apples to raise money. The booklet of poems and stories was bound and printed with a neat appearance because of this extra money.

Advisors Allison Holland and Sharon Deckelman look over poems for Reflections.

Ecology Isn't Just For The Birds!

Charles Johnson gives some conservation hints to members.

The Ecology Club has taken a special interest in the well-being of the birds. The members have informed us by ways of posters and their bulletin board to feed the birds, especially when snow is on the ground. Mr. Charles Johnson has had to call together a special meeting to discuss the possibility of putting a bird bath on campus, to help beautify our school grounds. The Club members have planted twelve trees including two red buds, pecans, and oaks.

Hamilton, Rosalie Kremers, Carolyn Riggan, Ruth Oman, Sheri Tyler.

Homemaking's More Than Boiling Water!

Girls belonging to the Future Homemakers of America do not just cook and clean house. They are busy helping people. For instance, in December, these girls helped the FBLA group with the tag day 'Toys for Tots.' The number of toys one brought allowed her to wear clothes other than the uniform. These toys were distributed to children who would otherwise have no 'Christmas.'

This group has also been busy in raising money. The girls have had bake sales at different times in the year during lunch periods.

Members of the Future Business Leaders of America have participated in different contests throughout the year. The competition shows the girls how they rank among other students in areas such as typing and accounting. To be a member of this group one must be taking a business course.

Students Communicate in Different Ways

The members of the Chorus group have spent a lot of time practicing this past year. Concerts were given in which the girls performed for the student body and teachers. At various assemblies, both singers and members of the MSM band joined together to show their talents.

The Madrigals, a selected group of singers, have also practiced hard so as to perform in front of the school audience. These girls were also kept busy preparing a feast and entertainment to raise money for the music department. On December 9th and 10th, they prepared food of the fifteenth century and sang for the groups of diners.

Eichelmann, Theresa Downing, Cindy Warner, Donna Wewer, Janice Nottenkamper, Shawn Milligan, Barbara Miller.

The Debate Team has participated in different activities throughout the year. In the fall, some of the student attended the Student Congress. And in the spring, members of the group were prepared to argue both the pro and con side of the question "Should the government guarantee medical care to all citizens?"

Other activities to be attended included the State Speech Festival at North Little Rock and the Hot Springs High School Tournament.

Each year senior committees are formed to organize special activities. In past years, only one member of each senior homeroom was allowed on each committee. But this year was different; the number of members was unlimited. Many seniors were able to become more involved in class activities because of this change.

The Prom Committee members were busy making phone calls to various places. They had the responsibilities of finding a location for the prom and choosing "Main Squeeze" as the band to play.

The members of the Senior Retreat Committee organized a full day for the Seniors at St. John's Seminary. They prepared different activities and had people to speak to the group.

The members of the Ring Mass Committee performed their duties early in the year. The Front Campus was chosen as the place for the Mass, and Father Correnti and Father Jacobs were invited to say the Mass.

The Class Day Committee members sent out surveys throughout the year in order to give the Seniors the kind of class day they wanted. The work they have done is seen in the Class Day assembly.

The members of the Class Day Booklet Committee also sent out surveys during the year. Students were given time to answer questions about themselves and their classmates.

The Graduation-Baccalaureate Committee is set up to plan the special night of graduation and the Sunday of the Baccalaureate. Organizing the two happenings is not an easy job; speakers must be found, and decisions must be made.

The Alumnae Tea Committee members are responsible for planning a Sunday afternoon for the Seniors and Alumnae. During this time, the members of the graduating class are accepted by past graduates into the Alumnae Association.

All seniors remember the special activities that occur in their last year at the Mount. These senior committees try to make these traditional happenings the best possible.

Busy Schedule Leaves Little

The girls on the Mercian Staff began their work of learning in the spring of 1977. At the first of July, Margie Hart and Annette Rogers attended a Yearbook Workshop in Russelville; and throughout all the summer months, ads were sold to businesses. During the winter months, there was much frustration as everyone was trying to meet deadlines. But not all was done. In the spring, members for the 1979 Mercian Staff had to be chosen and taught the basics of making a good yearbook.

Mount Gets Better and Better

The 1977-78 Mount Staff was organized in the spring of 1977. This group of girls published the final issue of the 1976-77 school year. Only a few reporters, and a new column, 'Special People, Special Talents!' were added in the fall.

When the weather was so hot at the beginning of the school year, the staff members sold popcicles during lunch to raise money. At the Renaissance Fair, when the weather was cooler, the girls sold hot chocolate and popcorn. The money raised was helpful in publishing the many Mount newspapers.

Editors Sidney Anderson and Christie Ray conduct meeting.

Anne Campbell wonders about her new assignment.

Susan Aston listens to Karen Guresky's idea for a new article.

"Practice Makes Perfect!"

"Feet don't fail me now!" Band members proudly displayed this slogan on the T-shirts they wore to this year's Mardi Gras celebration in New Orleans. They were invited to march in two parades, and the prospect was particularly exciting since this was their first year as a marching band.

To raise money for the trip, band members worked hard selling tacos and cleaning War Memorial Stadium. And in a last effort to raise the needed funds, the band raffled off the two remaining seats on the bus.

A new addition to the band this year was the flag line, which was chosen early in the school year. The nine members spent long hours perfecting their routines. Band and flag line practices were held at second period and after school. The parking lot did not provide quite enough room; so on weekends, marching practice was held at Mau-melle New Town.

This year band members also entered the All-State Band Competition and entertained both students and faculty at several assemblies throughout the year.

S.F.A. Board Really Works!

Board members consider a proposal at a meeting.

Junior Jan Dollins observes S.F.A.B. in action.

Mary Hemann, student coordinator, says, "The meetings are informal and everyone has equal respect for others."

Janet Tate, counselor, stated that, "as a new member, the S.F.A. Board has kept me very well informed in school activities."

The Student, Faculty, Administration Board, organized in 1974 to replace the Student Council, includes the president and first vice-president from each class, four faculty members, the principal, and a student coordinator who is elected by all of the student body. The job of the student coordinator is to act as an intermediary between students, faculty, and the principal and to represent the school in outside activities.

This group meets as often as possible, both before and after school. Its members deserve the credit for the special Christmas Assembly we had and for bettering the school community.

M.S.M. Teams Boost School Spirit . . .

Word, Sarah French, Patrice Gillenwater, Dianna Calderera, Leslie Gorman, Patty Binz, Lisa Loninotti, Manager Theresa Sorrows.

During last summer, some of the Belles attended a camp at the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville to improve their playing and to learn new techniques. Both Belles and Mounties were able to attend a basketball clinic held at Parkview in October; the admission price was paid for by Catholic High.

Melinda LaBorde and Theresa Sorrows, the managers of the two teams, have been kept busy in helping Coach Word. They have taken care of the scoreboard, records, and all types of errands.

The girls comprising the Volleyball team are of all classes with mostly juniors and freshmen. Coach Joy Rundell has organized the group and arranged many practices for the girls. This year's team has competed against Conway, Hall, Parkview, Central, Northeast, and Ole Main.

The Tennis Team, was organized during the winter months and well prepared to play in the spring. The girls have contributed much time to practice and learning.

. . . With Their Accomplishments

Bowling. 3rd Row: Jeni Ratliff (statistician), Patti Johnston, Kate Dunnavant, Mary Kay Fitzgerald, Lucy Blunk, Kara Chipman, Jackie Worthy, Brenda Miles, Sandra Bradford.

The Swim Team, organized and coached by Sandra Bradford, is divided into two separate teams, an "A" team and a "B" team, because there are so many girls interested in the sport. When competing with other teams, Mrs. Bradford allows many to enter the races to give them experience in competition.

Because of the lack of competition with other schools, the members of the Bowling Team were forced to compete against each other. The practice helped their playing and taught them new techniques. The girls met after school at Park Plaza Lanes as much as they could.

The members of the Gymnastics Team started early in order to be ready for the meets. The girls have a gymnastics class during the day with Joy Rundell as teacher and coach.

ina BornHofen, Gena Elam, Lynn Thomas, Meg Waters.

The Firecracker Cheerleaders chosen in the fall did not have the chance to start practicing early, but they went right to work. The girls practiced after school on many days.

The Belles and Mounties Cheerleaders were able to attend the camp in Jonesboro, Arkansas. While there, they received five blue ribbons and the spirit stick. All of the girls were hard-working and devoted to the M.S.M. basketball team.

This year, a new group of cheerleaders, the Sophomore cheerleaders, became a part of the spirit raising groups. No longer do we have the B-Team cheerleaders. These girls attended camp at the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville. There they learned many new chants and cheers for the season.

Excitement To C.H.S. Games

MARCHER OFFICERS: (l to r) Kathleen Byrne, 2nd Lieutenant; Cathie Prewitt, Captain; Debbie Scroggin, Co-Captain; Lisa Hain, 1st Lieutenant.

The Catholic High Rockettes started practicing in June so that they would be ready for camp at Southern State College of Arkansas in Magnolia. The girls were divided into different groups to learn different kinds of kicks and routines.

The Rockettes won a first place trophy for their home routine. The squad was allowed to keep the "spirit—pom" because the girls had received it every night.

TRIBUTE TO RONNIE VAN ZANT

A brief candle, both ends burning an endless mile, a bus wheel turning
A friend to share a lonesome time
A handshake and a sip of wine

When these people speak out, we listen.

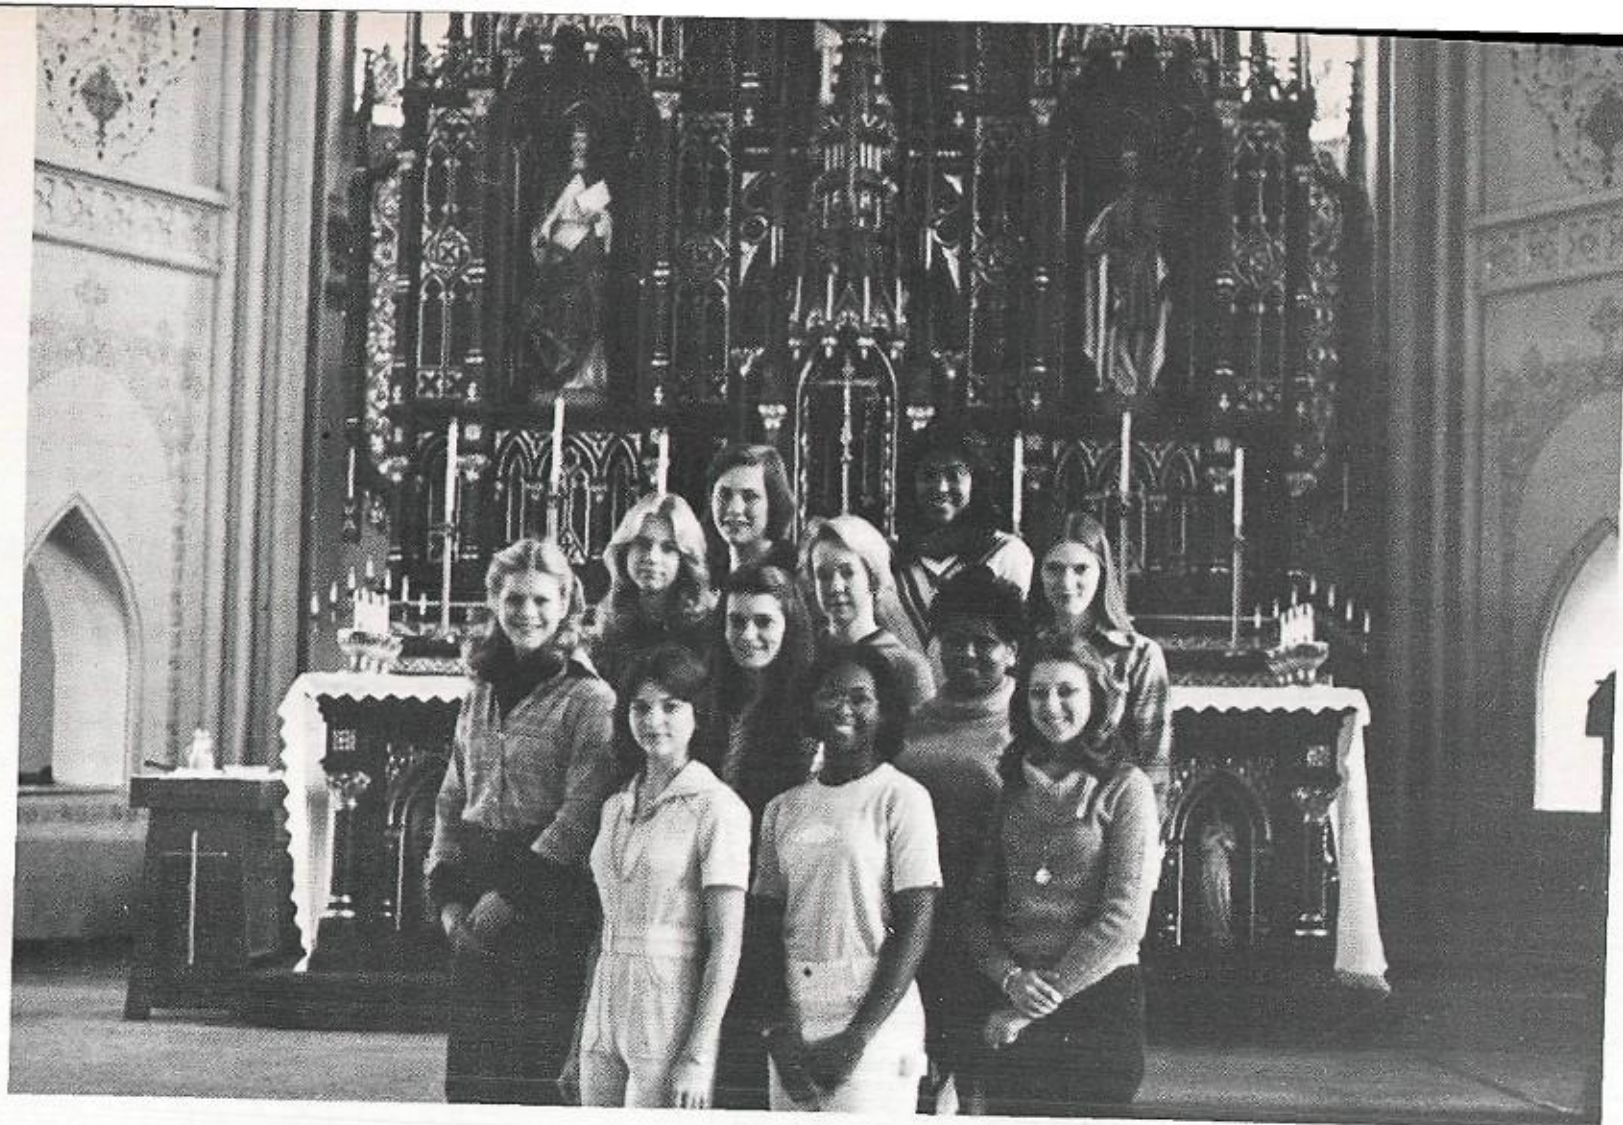

St. Mary's: Alicia Chudy, Connie Bargiel

When our student board speaks out The Twin City Bank listens. Because these outstanding High School Seniors are our Goodwill Ambassadors and liaison with today's youth. They tell us what the young people in the community want and expect from their bank.

We look at it this way. Helping and working with today's youth is a good way to start a friendship with tomorrow's leaders.

It can only be our own Chemistry which activates our curiosity. And, being thus, though we don't admit it, we must be three very mad scientiest, (mad — yes; scientists — don't think so) creating mischief wherever we go to satisfy our great need to know if all the things on this wide planet are found, there are three things which are ever constant:

LIVE, LOVE AND LEARN LATIN.

Future Seniors

Still Crazy After All These Years

We end, we continue, and we begin.

We end the school year, lose a period in our lives, and complete tasks set forth in the past. With knowledge gained from past experiences, we continue improvements on our faults and our relationships with the familiar. We begin to understand more clearly, to venture into the unknown, and to grow . . .

The past, the present, and the future are the time periods of our lives. These also constitute the tapestry of which we are a part; the present is a continuation of what the past has accomplished and is ever growing towards what the future will begin.

Special Thanks To Mr. Brad Toliver — Photography

There's a room down the hall from the elevator in the Main Building which has a new look. It has acquired this new appearance because in the past year it has received the function of housing that group of wild and crazy people known as "the yearbook staff." These people were a new bunch in 1977, with a new kind of book.

They were beginners at this yearbook staff and had their share of trials, tears, and terrors. Frustrations like three weeks of snow around deadline, photographers who couldn't be in two places at once, and the inability to make time stop nearly crippled the 1978 Yearbook (and the staff's minds as well); but the efforts and journalistic skill of these people saw them through the weathering storms. In these turbulent times Mrs. Carol Arnold, the staff advisor, served as a compass, reassuring the staff that they weren't lost and could find a way out. Catherine Bays and Dayna Crawford set their controls at "bionic" levels to accomplish the work of four people.

A new outlook characterized this new staff. They didn't merely want to copy old Mercians from years gone by, but they sought to shape something completely unique to M.S.M. and 1978. The spirit of this year and the people and events that made it what it was formed the yearbook. Thus, the 1978 Mercian emerged as a new book. It truly reflected the new outlook of the new staff in its theme of tapestry, a theme which has certainly prevailed this year in the attempt to improve communication and the general spirit in our school.

Although new is certainly not always better, it has proved to be so in the 1978 staff, its ideas, and its endeavors; because of this, I am proud to be —

Margie Hart,
1978 Mercian Editor

THANK YOU SO VERY MUCH, Mercian Staff of 1977-78. These words alone cannot show the appreciation I feel towards the Mercian Staff. I believe each member should get an academy award for being able to function under an assistant editor who is still pondering over the definition of a pica. We have missed deadlines by a mere two weeks and remained friends; I have told you to do a layout over because it looked like 'stuff,' and we remained friends. And we even gave some of you new names, but that didn't split our friendships. And for those of you who stood this torture, thanks!

Love you all,
Annette Rogers,
'78 Assistant Editor
